CHILE AND PERU AGAIN.

More Bluster and Rumors of War by the Fiery Little South American Republic.

Meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Council of America To-day at Baltimore.

Rescue of Prof. Reid in Alaska—Sharpshooter Brubacker's Fate---Lotta's Sad Case.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 5.—Peru, having indulged in much bluster and threatened to sever diplomatic relations with Chile, has quieted down. The French Government has consented to allow Peru to name the arbitrators on the distribution of the money in bond in England. This agreement in no way affects the terms of the Bacourt protocol, wherein Chile promises twenty per cent. of the money in her hands to the French creditors. Negotiations for a reciprocity treaty between the two countries may now proceed. Before Senor Uriburu, the late Argentine minister left here he promised the Chilean foreign office that the Argentine Government would not publish the letters in regard to the limitations question. The Argentine Foreign Minister, Zeballos, has broken the promise, having presented some of the papers to the Argentine congress. The commission of limitations have been unable to agree. The present treaty provides that in case of a disagreement the matter may be left to arbitration. Chile is willing to take this course, but Argentina objects. She wants a new treaty, and so the matter bangs fire.

Pelligrini sold several tracts of land to a German named Gumberg, last month. This land is said to be in the province of Chiloe, but is really in a most desirable location in the province of Santa Cruz. Gumberg sold this land for £400 a league, making a profit of £200 a league. It is alleged that part of this money went to Pelligrini and others. The matter gave rise to a debate in Congress, and Pelligrini's action was defended by Minister Zeballos on the ground that Argentina was in urgent need of funds to provide defenses against her aggressive neighbors. Pelligrini sought to resign and throw the burden on Pena, but the latter was not willing to accept office under the circumstances.

When the Chilean government heard of what Zeballos said they at once sent Lira to Brazil on a diplomatic mission, altogether foreign to this matter. Minister Errazuriz and the Chilean cabinet have had their hands full to prevent trouble. Owing to the peaceable policy of the government, however, there is little doubt that the difficulty will be settled amicably.

Indignant Educationists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—That the educational leaders of the country are up in arms against the authorities of the exposition owing to the curtailment of the space allotted to the educational exhibit was made manifest this afternoon, when the large audience chamber of the Board of Education was crowded with superintendents of Public Instruction, presidents of higher institutions of learning, and others interested in education, for the purpose of entering a protest against the action of the exposition authorities. Addresses were made declaring that the space allotted to the department of liberal arts had been unfairly reduced, that every effort to secure relief on the part of educators had been unsuccessful, and that in the interests of fifteen million school children justice should be done. Numerous telegrams from educators at distant points expressing approval of the objects of the meeting were received and read. The conference will probably continue until a late hour.

Lotta Will Never Dance Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The condition of Lotta, the actress, has become so serious that D. S. Bonta, her manager, notified the members of her company yesterday that they were at liberty to accept other engagements for the present season. All dates fixed for performances were cancelled. The little woman's trouble is traced to the fall she suffered in Jersey City three years ago, and the injuries received in a runaway accident in Boston, in Nov. 1889. The most encouraging news Lotta's physician, Dr. Wylie, can give is that with careful attention and absolute quiet she may, a year hence, be herself again in a social, but not in a professional, way. The doctor thinks that owing to her spinal ailment she will never be able to dance again. This news has almost broken Lotta's heart. She was to have appeared this season in "Clytie," a play written by a well-known actress of this city.

A Sharpshooter's Fate.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—Notwithstanding the recent reports of the execution of Brubacker, the South Dakota sharpshooter, in Honduras, information was received from the steamer S. Otori, which arrived in port last night, that Brubacker was not killed, but sentenced to three years' imprisonment at Amapati. At first he was court-martialled and sentenced to death in Truxillo. Friends who were influential with the government had his sentence commuted. As soon as the news was known, despatches were sent to Brubacker's family in South Dakota telling them that he was alive and well. He had been much the worse for his recent adventure, and was ill for some time, but is now all right and left last week under guard for mines in Amapati.

Real Estate Men in Council.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 5.—The delegates to the national real estate convention had such a good time of it last night under the care of their Buffalo hosts that they were slow in getting to work this morning. Among the important questions to be considered today is that of asking every state legislature in the country to pass uniform laws regarding the execution and acknowledgment of transfers of realty. Under the present state of affairs there are nearly as many laws as there are states, and as a consequence the real estate men of the country, in dealing with forms of deeds, mortgages and other instruments used in transfers, are greatly inconvenienced.

Urdenata's Golden Opportunity.

PORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, Oct. 5.—News reached this place from Venezuela that acting-President Villegas Pulido has invited Eleazar Urdenata to return to Caracas, and has offered to place him in command of the forces which are defending the capital against Crespo's advance.

WILD SCENES IN COURT.

Thomas Levi at Length Wins a Decisive Victory Over the Westminster W. C. T. U.

James Cunningham Calls Chief Houston a Gambler and is Sued for Ten Thousand.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 5.—There was great excitement in the Licensing Court this morning, the application of T. Levi again being considered for a license for the International Hotel. The ladies of the W.C.T.U. had counsel present, who opposed the granting of the license in every way, but the bench, the majority of whom were disinterested, decided to grant the application. The voting went: For, the Mayor, Messrs. McDonough and T. J. Trapp; against, Mr. James Cunningham. The last named gentleman, when he heard the decision, accused the chief of police of being a gambler and allowing gambling to go on in licensed houses. Chief Houston indignantly repudiated the charge, and the crowd cried "shame" to Cunningham. There was tremendous applause for the decision and the gentleman who voted it. The scene was a very wild one.

News has been received here from Ora, on the American side of the line, that an Indian named Baker Jim was shot by a saloonkeeper on September 27th, for coming into his hotel three times wanting to buy whiskey after being warned to desist. The murderer gave himself up, but the justice of the peace dismissed the case. The Indians have sworn to kill all the white men in the place, and go about heavily armed.

The Kerer case was adjourned this morning until 2 o'clock. Nothing was done.

The chief of police has entered action against James Cunningham for $10,000 for slander and defamation of character, contained in the remarks of Mr. Cunningham during the sitting of the licensing board this morning.

Rescued From Icy Death.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Lieut.-Commander Maynard, commanding the U. S.S. Pinto, stationed in Alaskan waters, has written the navy department from Sitka, under date of September 1st, of the rescue of Prof. H. F. Reed and two assistants engaged in making a scientific examination of the Fair Glacier during the summer. The captain of the mail steamer City of Topeka told Commander Maynard that he had gone to Glacier Island for Professor Reed, but failed to find him there, so the Pinta sailed away to Glacier Island to find the missing scientist. On Sept. 6th, in the icy strait near Glacier Island bay the Pinta met Reed and one of his assistants in a small 15 foot boat with which they were trying to reach Juneau to obtain assistance. The other assistant was left at Glacier with instructions and the baggage, as the boat was too small to carry more than two men. Two days later the Pinta succeeded in making the face of Glacier Island where the third man was found and taken aboard.

California's Salmon Question.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5. — United States Commissioner Livingstone, arrived in this city last evening from the Government hatchery on McCloud River in Shasta County. He arrived at the McCloud station from Washington six weeks ago, and since then he has been engaged in making a thorough examination of the fishing interests in the locality. "If the Government," said he, "does not take some action very soon, salmon will be a thing of the past in the Sacramento River. When I was up at McCloud River station 15 years ago, we used to get 15 millions of eggs out of the hatchery. Now it is hard to get eight million. I have fished up there during my recent stay and caught very few salmon. In all the tributaries of the Sacramento conditions are the same and there is only one way to prevent the waters of California being fished out as completely as the Hudson and other rivers on the Atlantic side, and that is to make the close season commence about August 1st of each year instead of Sept. 1st.

U. S. Protestant Episcopal Church.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—The supreme law making body of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States met at Emmanuel church at 10:30 this morning and began their week's session. It is a session that will be preeminently marked by earnest and brilliant debate. Important legislation and changes in the organic law of the church, which may have their effect for ages to come, are to be made. The business session of the convention will begin at 3:30 this afternoon.

Mysteriously Done to Death.

OMAHA, Oct. 5.—Two little girls, while picking coal in the east bottoms, discovered the body of a man lying in the woods near Eighth street last evening. The body has been recognized as that of C. G. Miller, mayor of South Omaha. In the forehead near the temple was a bullet wound. The suicide theory is scouted by the mayor's friends and some gamblers in the Magic City are accused of knowing something about how the man met his death.

TENNYSON PASSING AWAY.

Death's Cold Hand is Stilling the Strong Heart of England's Poet Laureate.

The End is Coming Peacefully, and the Aged Poet Sinks to Death as to a Slumber.

Sir Andrew Clarke, Gladstone's Medical Adviser, is by the Bedside of Tennyson.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—At half past three o'clock this afternoon Tennyson's physicians report that he is dying. He is passing away quietly and slowly, and may linger for some hours.

The death of the Poet Laureate will remove perhaps the most prominent figure in the literary ranks of the English speaking world. For the last few years Lord Tennyson has produced but few poems, and in those few there was but too strong evidence of the decay of his powers; but he has still occupied a large place in the view of the public. No lover of poetry can think without a pang of the author of "Enoch Arden" and "Maud" passing away from earthly scenes, of there being no longer any chance that his tuneful voice will again be lifted up in song. Lord Tennyson is dying at a ripe old age, having been born in Lincolnshire in 1809, at the parsonage of his father, the Rev. G. C. Tennyson. He has worn the Laureate's crown now for 42 years, having been awarded in 1850, upon Wordsworth's death, "the laurel greener from the brows of him who uttered nothing base." There is no need to mention Lord Tennyson's works in detail; all lovers of poetry of the present generation know and love his poems. His muse was most prolific, and very many of his productions will always retain a high place in English literature. To the "divine afflatus" Lord Tennyson added the highest skill of the literary artist, and there is a certain quality in his work which commends it to all classes of readers. There is certainly none of equal rank to succeed him as Poet Laureate.

The Berlin-Vienna Ride.

VANCOUVER VERITIES.

Careless Yachtsmen—A Dissatisfied Consul Manager Goldsmid's Luck.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—The yacht "C. P.R." was found this morning on the shore at English bay, half filled and a hole stove in her side. The report was circulated that four men who had taken her yesterday were drowned, but afterwards it was learned that the yacht shipped water and with difficulty they beached her; and failed to report the matter to the owner.

The bark Highland Light arrived this morning with bituminous rock for street paving. It is doubtful whether anything can be done so late this year.

M. Rosenbaum, wholesale druggist and dealer in German stationery, and recently appointed German consul, will give up business here owing to detention of goods through cholera, and return to Hamburg.

The Rugby football club will organize on Friday night.

A. P. W. Goldsmid, business manager of the Vancouver Opera House, has been made general manager.

Prominent in Politics.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—Col. Jas. Rice, ex-auditor os the State of Indiana, died this morning at the Grand Hotel this city. He was one of the most widely-known politicians in the country. He was elected auditor of Indiana in 1883, and also served two years as chairman of the Democratic state central committee. He has been in poor health for a year and his death was the result of the grippe. He was born in New Albany, Ind., in 1843, and was a bachelor.

A Tough Old Customer.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Major Joseph Magone, who started from Oregon last July to walk to this city, a distance of 3,100 miles, arrived here yesterday. He is 82 years old, and with the exception of swimming a river in Oregon on a mule's back, walked every step of the way. He is in good condition and says he greatly enjoyed the long tramp. He comes to Chicago to attend the dedication exercises at the Columbian Exhibition.

Splendid Time Made.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The race up Long Island Sound early this morning between the side-wheeler Puritan, of the Fall River line, and the twin screw boat Richard Peck, of New Haven resulted in a victory for the cutter. A BIG ROW BREWING.

Abbott Leaves the Capital Huffed at the Chapleau Wing.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Premier Abbott came to the city to attend the cabinet meeting this afternoon. There was no meeting, so he called a meeting for 3 o'clock. It was afterwards postponed until to-morrow, when it was understood the Premier was to attend it, being the last meeting before he and Foster sails for England on Saturday. Instead of this he left for Montreal at 4 o'clock without seeing any of his colleagues. The trouble arose over the Chapleau wing pressing for Abbott's resignation. There is a big row brewing.

The following have been appointed a committee of the Privy Council to deal with the communication of Archbishop Tache, asking for remedial legislation in regard to the Manitoba school question: Sir John Thompson, Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Hon. Edgar Dewdney and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell.

TARANIELLO NONCHALANT.

The Suspected Murderer of Cavallero Wears a Devil-May-Care Look in the Box.

He is Insolent in His Speech in Court Knights of Pythias Annual Session.

NANAIMO, Oct. 5.—The inquest touching the murder of Cavallero was held in the court house yesterday, and attracted general attention. Dr. Walkem presided as coroner. The prisoner entered the box, and bore a "devil-may-care" look, occasionally expressing himself during the time the evidence was being taken in a very offensive manner. Frank Brown was the principal witness and positively swore Taraniello was the man who asked directions to Cavallero's home on the night the murder was committed. David Watson, brakeman on the E. & N. Railway, also swore Taraniello got off at Chemainus on Wednesday last and walked up the track to Nanaimo. A number of other witnesses were called, but could not identify the man who stands accused.

The jury were not long out. They brought in the verdict that "John Cavallero came to his death through stabbing, and there was not sufficient evidence to show who did it." The verdict caused a sensation. Taraniello will have to appear before Magistrate Planta, and it is thought the case will have a different termination.

California's Philanthropist.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—U. S. Senator Leland Stanford arrived, yesterday from Aix les Baines. His health has not improved. In an interview he said he said he firmly believed the Republicans would win in the approaching presidential contest, and the third party will most probably see that they can do nothing and will then go over in large numbers to the Republicans and adopt their views, in part at least, on the money questions. The McKinley bill would not hurt the Republicans. Americans would not submit to a direct tax so long as they could get needed money out of imports. "We are not now raising more money than necessary for the expenses of the Government," he continued. "A well organized nation never ought to have to rely upon its neighbors for any articles. It should do its own work at home and not give to foreigners money it can keep in its own country."

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—Peter Weidner, Wm. L. Elkins and several Baltimore members of the Traction railway syndicate, which operates lines in Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities, are considering plans for the proposed Boulevard and Electric railway between Baltimore and Washington. The company has already secured the right of way to Washington. The expense of building both the Boulevard and Electric railway is so small compared with the value of the investment that there is no doubt of its being pushed with energy.

The proposed schedule only affects Baltimore and Ohio telegraphers.

NEWPORT, R.I., Oct. 4.—One of the most brilliant weddings which Newport has seen for many years, with the possible exception of the Hargous-Elliott nuptials a year ago, was solemnized in Old Trinity Church at noon to-day. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with draperies and ruffllings of the rarest point lace, and the lace veil was caught with a tiara of pearls and diamonds. After the ceremony at Trinity church a wedding breakfast was served on the lawn of the Sherman cottage.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—The general triennial council of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States opened here to-day, and will continue in session for the greater part of an entire month. This is one of the most important ecclesiastical gatherings of the year. The delegates, lay and clerical, representing every diocese in the country, are the accredited representatives of half a million communicants, and of a denomination which is the wealthiest of all the religious organizations in the United States, for, according to the religious statistics of the forthcoming United States census, its property amounts to $73,000,000, or $146 per capita. The council which assembled this morning consists of two houses, the house of bishops and the house of deputies. Sixty-seven bishops constitute the upper house, and four laymen to each of the fifty two dioceses constitute the lower house. The concurrence of both houses is necessary to the validity of decisions governing and binding upon the church, but legislation may originate in either one of them. Owing to the character of the subjects to be considered the present convention will be one of the most important that the denomination has ever held, and is destined to be memorable in the history of the denomination.

Many questions of international importance and interest will come before the council for action. At the last convention, held in New York in 1889, the committee on the hymnal was instructed to revise its work and report to the convention. The report of the commission on the standard book of common prayer is also ready for presentation. Among other matters to be reported on are the validity of Moravian orders and the question of a conference with the English Church as to a board of reference on foreign missions. Committees on Canons of the House of Bishops, in regard to the relations of wardens, vestrymen and rectors in regard to marriage, divorce, etc., will also report, and also those appointed to consider the government of brotherhoods, sisterhoods and mission priests, and that on the supply of candidates for holy orders. Special interest will be excited by the report of the committee on Christian unity of different denominations in connection with the action on the same subject by other bodies, especially the Presbyterian churches; also to the report of the committee on the spiritual care of immigrants. The question of the division of dioceses into provinces under a bishop, with an assistant bishop or bishops over a province or provinces, will be discussed.

A NOVELTY IN BUILDING.

Aluminum to be Used in Place of Bricks in a Chicago Structure.

Chicago Tribune.]

Chicago has astounded the architectural world with its commercial buildings, and the method of construction invented by its architects has come to be known as the Chicago method. Astonishing as are many of the buildings that have already gone up, they will certainly be eclipsed in novelty by the structure which Owen F. Aldis and his associates will erect at the northwest corner of State and Madison streets. The building has been planned by Holabird & Roche, and the specially novel feature about it is that there will be in the exterior not a single piece of wood, stone or brick. It is to be an aluminum building. The entire exterior with the exception of the plate-glass is to be sheets of this silver-like metal. The construction of the building itself will be on much the same plan as the ordinary shell construction of the high buildings here. The structure will be erected to the full height of sixteen stories, however, before any of the material that answers for the wall is put on. The sheets of aluminum will be three-sixteenths of an inch thick, and twenty inches by four feet in size. They will be cast with an ornate design raised on the face, and will be finished with a portion of the plate burnished and a portion left with the natural metallic lustre. These sheets will be held in place by ornamental aluminum strips bolted on next to the window casing. Back of the aluminum sheets will be fireproofing, and the strips about the windows will be backed with a solid filling of cement. Twenty tons of aluminum will be used to cover the surface of the structure. As the cost of the metal is 75 to 80 cents a pound it will be seen that this feature of the construction is scarcely an economical one. The plates are not composed of pure aluminum, but of an alloy composed of about 90 per cent. of aluminum and of 10 per cent. copper and other metals.

A feature of the building, which will be almost as striking as the material of its exterior, will be the size of the windows. There will be two rows of windows on the State street front running to the full height of sixteen stories, and three rows on the Madison street front, and these windows will be 22 feet across. Another novel feature of the construction will be the method of laying the floors to prevent damage by water in case of fire. The difficulty in the construction of tall buildings for mercantile purposes has been in the danger that was run from damage in case of fire no matter how completely fireproof the construction might be, for if the fire was to occur in any goods on any floor the damage resulting from a flood of water would be as great to the floors below as if the flames went through the whole building. It is proposed in the building to lay tile floors in cement, covering completely the whole area so that there will be no chance for the water to leak through from one floor to another. The pillars extending from one floor to another will be put in position on top of the tile flooring. There will then be arrangements made for an outlet for the water through to the outside from each floor so that there might be a fire upon any floor of the building and the stock upon that floor flooded without damage to any of the goods on the floors below. The interior of the building is to be finished in mahogany, and altogether it promises to stand as the most remarkable piece of architecture. The cost is estimated at $650,000. The appearance of this structure, composed entirely of plate glass and shining sheets of aluminum, will certainly be novel.

Saved by a Dream.

An instance in which a dream was useful in preventing an impending catastrophe is recorded of a daughter of Mrs. Rutherford at Ederton, the granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott. This lady dreamed more than once that her mother had been murdered by a black servant. She was so much upset by this that she returned home, and, to her great astonishment and not a little to her dismay, she met on entering the house the very black servant she had met in her dream. He had been engaged in her absence. She prevailed upon a gentleman to watch in an adjoining room during the following night. About three o'clock in the morning the gentleman heard footsteps on the stairs, came out and met the servant carrying a quantity of coals. Being questioned as to where he was going, he answered confusedly that he was going to mend the mistress' fire, which at three o'clock in the morning in the middle of summer was evidently impossible. On further investigation a strong knife was found hidden in the coals. The lady escaped, but the man was subsequently hung for murder, and before his execution he confessed that he intended to have assassinated Mrs. Rutherford.—Review of Reviews.

A PHYSICIAN SPEAKS ABOUT IT.

"Your Lactated Food saved the lives of a number of children that I attended in July and August. I found them in such a condition, when called to see them, that I considered medicines were useless. In every case I made inquiries regarding their dieting, and discovered that they were not being properly fed. I always ordered Lactated Food, and the results in every case were most satisfactory and pleasing. The children recovered quickly and are now amongst the healthiest in the city."

The above remarks came from one of Montreal's best physicians, and should carry conviction to the heart of every mother whose child may be languishing, weak and puny.

If baby is not steadily gaining in health and strength, we advise the mother to give Lactated Food an immediate trial. Its cost is trifling, but the results are grand and encouraging.

Cleaning Roads.

Macadam, the Scotch engineer whose name has for the last 50 years been connected with the excellent road-making system he introduced, used to say: "It is as important to remove the worn-out material from a stone road as to put on new material," and "all mud should be brushed from the road surface before applying more stone." A pneumatic road-cleaning machine by which the inventor, John J. Astor, seeks to carry out these ideas has appeared, and the model, which is in operation at Mr. Astor's place at Rhinebeck, N. Y., is said to be working most satisfactorily. The machine consists of a platform mounted on wheels and carrying ordinary shafts, and a seat for the driver. A double-acting bellows, supported in a diagonal position under the platform, affords a continual blast of air when the machine is in operation. A hand lever within reach of the driver enables him to regulate to a nicety the force of the air blast desired. The great advantage this machine has over brushes is that there is nothing in the air blast to disintegrate or remove the solid part of the roadbed.

A VERY FINE BAG

A Cow And Fourteen Sheep Secured in Saanich by City Sportsmen.

At least one band of city "sportsmen" has celebrated the opening of the pheasant season by gathering a magnificent "bag." On Saturday evening a party of powder-burners went out into Saanich so as to be ready at earliest morn to make slaughter. Of course they had guns and dogs with them, which were presumably intended to be used only on feathered game. On Saturday night they took up their quarters at Henderson's hotel, and next day Mr. Henderson found that he had reason to regret their visit, because it was discovered that the sportsmen's dogs had killed nine of his sheep. Mr. Hagan, whose farm adjoins Mr. Henderson's place, contributed five more sheep to the 'bag." Through the day Mr. Durand found that one of the sportsmen had shot a two-year-old heifer on his place, and that the same sportsman, or one of his comrades-in-arms, had been considerate enough to cut the animal's throat. Not content with slaughtering the beasts of the field, some member of the party appears to have taken a "pot shot" at the two sons of Mr. Wm. Thompson, who were standing in their father's stable, the shot rattling uncomfortably near. The Saanich farmers are naturally in a state of indignation over the outrage perpetrated by the marauders, and they threaten to make it warm for all hunters who go that way.

How Obelisks Were Moved.

The obelisks of the Pharaohs are made of red granite called syenite. In the quarries of Syene may yet be seen an unfinished obelisk, still adhering to the native rock, with traces of workmen's tools so clearly seen on its surface that one might suppose they had been suddenly called away and intended soon to return and finish their work.

This unfinished obelisk shows the mode in which the ancients separated these immense monoliths from the native rock. In a shapely-cut grove marking the boundary of the stones are holes, evidently designed for wooden wedges. After these had been firmly driven into the holes, the groove was filled with water. The wedges gradually absorbing the water, swelled and cracked the granite throughout the length of the groove. The block, once detached from the rock, was pushed forward on rollers made of the stems of palm trees, from the quarries to the edge of the Nile, where it was surrounded by a large timber raft.

It lay by the river side until the next inundation of the Nile, when the rising waters floated the raft, and conveyed the obelisk down the stream to the city where it was to be set up. Thousands of willing hands pushed it on rollers up an inclined plane to the front of the temple where it was designed to stand. The pedestal had previously been placed in position, and a firm causeway of sand covered with planks led to the top of it. Then by means of rollers, levers and ropes made of the date palm, the obelisk was gradually hoisted into an upright position.—Rev. J. King's "Cleopatra's Needle."

THE TROTTING RECORD.

A Couple of Wonderful Performances by Trotters and Pacers.

From the Oregonian.]

Last week was the most remarkable week in the history of the turf. Pretty much every record of which any track is kept was lowered. Nancy Hanks started the ball rolling by taking three full seconds off her regulation track record. Then Mascott equalled the mark made by the queen, and the two to-day have to their credit the fastest time ever made in single harness. There was a difference between the two events, which should give the greater credit to Mascott. His time was made in a race, while Nancy Hanks was given her mark in an effort against time, and was assisted by a runner. The two records were made over the same track, the regulation course at Terre Haute. The race in which Mascott made his record is the most remarkable in the history of the turf. Five heats were trotted. Mascot won the first in 2:04, but the effort cost him the race. This was the only heat of the five he won. Guy won the second in 2:05¾. The next three went to the credit of Flying Jib, who rolled them off in 2:06¾, 2:08½ and 2:08¾, making the average time for the five heats a little slower than 2:06¾, a showing which will not be made very soon again. Not satisfied with this, the free-for-all trot had to be done in six heats, in time averaging close to 2:12. Then Doble gave Bella Vera a record of 2:08¾, equalling Maud S.'s famous record time. A day later at Evansville Doble drove Martha Wilkes a half second faster, making the mile in 2:08¼. There was also some phenomenal work done upon the regulation track at Wichita, Kan. The pacing records for 3, 2 and 1-year-olds were lowered by John Gentry to 2:14; On Line, to 2:18¾; and Bell Acton, to 2:21¼, respectively. Nor was all the record-breaking confined to the trotters and pacers, for at Morris Park, Saturday, Dr. Hasbrouck did five furlongs in 0:57, beating the record by two seconds, and Yemen reduced the six furlong time from 1:10¼ to 1:09¾.

The performance at Terre Haute of Mascot and Nancy Hanks has caused the old rivalry between the admirers of the trotter and the pacer to break out. Just at present neither has the advantage, but, with few exceptions, the pacer has always been at the top of the heap. Away back in the 20's Bowery Boy (pacer) did two miles in 5:04½. In the same decade Rattler (trotter) covered the same distance in 5:24. The best pacing and trotting time in the several decades since then has been: From 1830 to 1840, Drover 2:28, Edwin Forest 2:21½; 1840 to 1850, Unknown 2:23; Lady Suffolk and Pelham 2:28; 1850 to 1860, Poshahontas 2:17½, Flora Temple 2:19¾, 1860 to 1870, Billy Boyce 2:14½; Dexter 2:17¼; 1870 to 1880, Sleepy Tom 2:12¼; St. Julian 2:12¾; 1880 to 1890, Johnston 2:06¼, Maud S. 2:08¾; 1892, Mascot 2:04 and Nancy Hanks 2:04. In each case the pacer was mentioned first, he having the best time to his credit.

Intoxicated on Petroleum Fumes.

A curious case of intoxication at sea by inhaling petroleum fumes is reported by Capt. Parker, of the British steamship Wildflower, a bulk oil carrier, while on her way from Rouen to Philadelphia. When the vessel was within two days of the land, four of the crew were ordered below to wash out the tanks, preparatory to loading a return cargo of oil. Nothing was thought of the matter until a most animated discussion was heard by the commanding officer over the respective merits of the parents of the different men, and in his attempt to enforce discipline all hands joined in a jig that made the tank sound as it had never sounded before. It required the united persuasion of the ship's officers to bring the men up on deck again, when the fresh air soon brought them to their senses. They had no recollection of what had happened but a few minutes before.—St. Louis Republic.

CITY HEALTH NOTICE

THE ACTING MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER for the City of Victoria recommends that all citizens be required to thoroughly clean up their premises, removing all garbage heaps, decaying vegetables, stable manure, and night soil, and disinfecting all closets and drains as often as necessary, and generally to comply with the provisions of the "Consolidated Health By Law."

By order,

WELLINGTON J. DOWLER,
C.M.C.

Victoria, October 1, 1892.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "CONSOLIDATED HEALTH BY-LAW."

ACCUMULATION OF FILTH.

No person shall permit or suffer the accumulation, so as to be a nuisance, of any offal, filth, refuse, stagnant water, or other offensive matter or thing upon his premises, or on any vacant lot belonging to him, or for the owner or lessee of which he is the agent.

No person shall place on any land or in or upon any street, road, or highway, any manure or other refuse matter, or any dirt or filth which is, or is likely to become, a nuisance.

No person shall convey or cause to be conveyed through any street, road, or highway, any night-soil, swill, or other filth or offensive matter dangerous to health, between the hours of six in the morning and twelve in the evening, or at any time except in a proper covered cart or vehicle, so as to prevent slopping or spilling.

Every tenant or occupier of a building shall dispose of all animal and vegetable refuse from such building or on the premises occupied therewith, either by burning the same or by placing it in a proper covered receptacle, the contents of which he shall cause to be removed at least once every week.

No person shall throw into, or leave in or upon, any street, court, square, road, lane, alley, wharf, public enclosure, vacant lot, pond, or body of water, any dead animal, dirt, sawdust, soot, ashes, cinders, shavings, hair, shreds, manure, fish shells, waste water or filth of any kind, or any refuse, animal, or vegetable matter whatever.

DRAINAGE AND PRIVIES.

The owner, lessee, agent, or person having the care of any ground, yard, vacant lot, or other property where stagnant water or other nuisance exists, abutting on any street through which a common sewer shall have been constructed shall cause the same to be effectually drained into such common sewer.

The owner, lessee, agent, or occupier of any building or premises used as a dwelling-house, hotel, restaurant, saloon, shop, store, office, factory, wash-house, or otherwise, shall furnish the same with a sufficient drain under ground to carry off all waste or foul water or liquid filth; and no such drain shall empty or discharge into or upon any street, road, or highway, or any open drain thereon, unless in the opinion of the Mayor and Council the same shall not be detrimental to the public health.

All vaults and privies shall be made tight, so that the contents thereof cannot escape therefrom, and as remote from any dwelling, well, or water tank as practicable.

OVERCROWDING.

No person shall let or occupy, or suffer to be occupied, as a dwelling or lodging, any room which—

(a.) Does not contain at all times at least 334 cubic feet of space for each person occupying the same;

(b.) Has not a window made to open in a manner approved by the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector; or

(c.) Has not appurtenant to it the use of a water-closet, earth closet or privy, constructed in accordance with the by-laws and regulations of the City.

And every room in which a person passes the night, or is found between midnight and five o'clock in the forenoon, shall be deemed to be occupied as a dwelling or lodging within the meaning of this section.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.

No person shall erect, open, or use any slaughter-house within the limits of the City of Victoria.

EVENTION OF THE SPREAD OF DISEASE.

Whenever a person suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, is an inmate of any hotel or boarding house, the keeper, or one of the keepers, of such hotel or boarding-house shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Every medical practitioner attending or visiting any person who is suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Any officer of the Corporation may seize, and under the direction of the Medical Health Officer, the Mayor or the Sanitary Inspector, destroy any tainted or unwholesome meat, poultry, fish, or other article of food exposed or offered for sale.

PENALTY.

Every person guilty of an infraction of any of the provisions of this by-law shall, upon conviction thereof, in a summary manner, before the Police Magistrate or any two Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the City, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, and costs if ordered; and if such penalty, and costs if ordered, be not paid immediately or within such period as such Police Magistrate or Justices may appoint, the same may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or such offender may be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for any term not exceeding three calendar months, unless such penalty, and costs if ordered, be sooner paid.

A BY-LAW

TO ENABLE the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of twenty five thousand dollars for the purpose therein set forth.

Whereas it is necessary that the streets and sidewalks should be maintained and bridges improved and constructed, and whereas an insufficient sum of the present year's unexpended revenue is at this time available for such work, it is therefore deemed expedient to raise a sum of money for the above purposes.

And whereas for the purposes aforesaid it is intended to raise by way of loan upon the credit of the city the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

And whereas it will require the sum of $1,289.00 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt and interest as hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said Corporation of the City of Victoria according to the revised assessment roll, for the year 1891, was $17,563,148.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 3-40th of a mill in the dollar for the payment of the interest and the creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said interest debt, according to the Municipal Act, 1892.

And whereas it is intended to reduce the general rate so that the said Special rate shall not increase the total rate of taxation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

SECTION 1.—It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow upon the credit of the said Corporation, by way of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $25,000.00 currency, or sterling money at the rate of $4.86 2-3rds dollars to the one pound sterling, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

SECTION 2.—It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $25,000.00 either in currency or sterling money (at the rate of $4.86 2-3 dollars to the one pound sterling) as may be required, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000 or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

SEC. (3.)—The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the date hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Corporation in the City Hall, Victoria, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, and the signature of the Mayor or of the Clerk of the Corporation respecting to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac simile.

SECTION 4.—The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

Sec. (5). For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest to become due thereon, an equal special rate of 3-40ths of a mill in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the City of Victoria during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

SECTION 6.—This By-law shall before the final passage thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided for by the Municipal Act, 1892, and shall take effect on the 14th day of October, 1892.

SECTION 7.—This By-law may be cited as the "Street Loan By-Law, 1892."

Passed the Municipal Council this 28th day of September, 1892.

TAKE NOTICE

That the above is a true copy of the proposed by-law upon which the vote of the Municipality will be taken at Burnes' building, Bastion Square, for the Centre Ward; at the City Hall, corner of Pandora and Douglas streets, for the North Ward, and at a building situated on the east side of Government street, between Broughton and Courtney streets, and known as No. 27, for the South Ward, in the City of Victoria, on Tuesday, the eleventh day of October next, and that the poll will be kept open between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and four p.m.

THE "MORAL DEPRAVITY" CASE.

The acquittal of Mr. Potts, of the Colonist staff, of the charge of indecent assault, recalls the circumstances that led up to the proceedings which terminated last night before Mr. Justice Drake. For the purpose of "pointing a moral" for the benefit of our overzealous contemporary, we may be permitted to quote an extract or two from the article that appeared in the Colonist on the 5th of June, headed "Moral Depravity," and which is now known to have been a libel upon our community. The article opened as follows:

"Stories about gross immorality amongst children, are, unfortunately, in these modern days, too common. In the larger cities, such as London, Chicago and New York, there have been, from time to time, exposures which have shocked the whole world. When Victoria people will hold up their hands in horror at such occurrences in other places, thousands of miles away, what will they say when it is known that right at home, in the very heart of the city there has been going on, for months past, what seems to be almost a regular system of prostituting children of tender age, and that too by men whose positions, socially and commercially, are such that they are looked upon with respect? And yet there can be no doubt of the facts."

The article proceeded to explain the "circumstances of the discovery," and broadly asserted that the little girls, who were declared to be "guilty of the grossest immorality," were made use of by men who lived in "a well known building." The writer stated that positive proof had been obtained of the whole of the scandalous proceedings, and promised, as "a matter of duty," to lay the details before the proper authorities. The "well known building" to which the Colonist referred subsequently proved to be the Turner block, on Douglas street, the property of the Hon. Forbes G. Vernon, who had recently become the purchaser, but at the time leased to a man named Collins, who used it as a lodging house.

The results of the "exposure" have been the prosecution of one Colonist reporter and his honorable acquittal, and the expatriation of another. The lodging-house keeper was compelled to abandon his business, Mr. Vernon's house was given a bad name, and the confidence of the public in moral reformations championed by the Colonist has for the second time in a brief period been sadly shaken.

The charge that little girls were being prostituted by citizens "looked up to with respect" has utterly broken down, and, for the credit of our city we are glad to know that it has. The reporter was cruelly hoaxed by some person, and from the flippant talk of a street arab he foolishly concluded that many other little girls were vicious and depraved. The article was criminally libellous, and instead of justifying it our contemporary should apologize to the citizens whose character it so atrociously maligned. The interest taken in the proceeding of Regina vs. Potts was not on account of the position of Mr. Potts, whose innocence of indecent assault was established in the police court, but it was due to the general expectation that the "evidence," which was supposed to incriminate other people, would by some means be brought out in court. The very fact that the Police Magistrate, the Attorney-General and the police were put in possession of the "evidence," on the morning the article was published, or shortly thereafter, and that all declined to act upon it, is good proof that the paper that sent Prof. Menzies to gaol while trying to establish his innocence of the charge of procuration, has once more demonstrated its utter incapacity as a moral reformer.

The Oregonian objects to Canadians enforcing to the letter the treaty of 1818, which forbids American fishing vessels to enter Canadian ports except for wood, water, shelter or repairs. It objects even to the Atlantic modus vivendi, under which American fishing vessels may enjoy other privileges in Canadian ports by paying the prescribed license fee. Suppose the Canadian Government were to turn about now and adopt the nine-mile rule which the Americans have set up for Behring Sea purposes, what would the Oregonian say? If all American vessels found fishing within nine miles of the Canadian shores were to be seized, what an uproar there would be! But why should not the nine-mile limit rule apply to the American fisherman as well as to the Canadian sealer?

THE LIEUT.-GOVERNORSHIP.

It seems that members of the Provincial Government have been endeavoring to instruct the Ottawa Government in the matter of appointing a successor to Lieutenant-Governor Nelson. The following Ottawa dispatch was published in this morning's Colonist, and there is apparently no reason to doubt the correctness of its statements:—

Very little of a definite character is obtainable regarding the Lieut.-Governorship of British Columbia. It is understood there are only three gentlemen whose names are under consideration—Senator Macdonald and Messrs. Mara and Dewdney. The cabinet has not formally taken the matter up. Strong influence is being brought to bear in favor of Mr. Dewdney. When Mr. Bowell was at Victoria, a deputation of the Provincial Government, consisting of Messrs. Theodore Davie, Vernon and Pooley waited on him. They urged, among other things, the appointment of Mr. Dewdney to the Governorship as the most acceptable man who could be chosen. It is said that Mr. Bowell raised the point that Mr. Dewdney would be looked upon as an outsider, and the reply of the delegation is understood to have been that Mr. Dewdney was an old British Columbian, who had been only absent from the Province on his official duties, and that his appointment would be well received by the Province. The Provincial Government embodied their views in favor of Mr. Dewdney in a memorial to Premier Abbott.

It appears to us that the interference of the members of the Provincial Government in this matter will generally be regarded as in bad taste. When there are three rival claimants to the office, it is surely not wise for the Local Ministers to agitate for the appointment of one of these, considering the relations which they and the Lieut.-Governor sustain towards each other. If the Dominion Government happens to select one of the other two, this action on the part of the three Ministers cannot improve the relations between the new Governor and his advisers. We believe that this tendering of advice by Provincial Ministers in the matter of appointing a governor is the first instance of the kind on record. It is certainly not a commendable action.

There is a somewhat queer situation created by the pronouncement by the Local Ministers in favor of Mr. Dewdney. It is quite well known that the members of the Commons from this province have almost unanimously supported Mr. Mara's candidature, and it would look as though there was to be a trial of strength between the ministers and the members. It is to be a sort of political tug-of-war, in fact. Perhaps while these contending parties are pulling for their favorities, Senator Macdonald will quietly step in and capture the prize himself.

Why should the Provincial Ministers be so earnest in the support of Mr. Dewdney as a candidate for the governorship? Where did they learn that he is "the most acceptable man who could be chosen?" When Mr. Bowell said he might be objected to as an outsider they replied that he was looked upon as an old British Columbian, who has been absent from the province only on account of his official duties, and that "his appointment would be well received by the province." This was a most remarkable deliverance. We venture to state that if a vote of the people could be taken on the question there would be an overwhelming majority against Mr. Dewdney. The people object to him not only because he is an outsider but because he is an outsider with a discreditable record. They have not forgotten his doings in connection with the Regina townsite or the mismanagement and incapacity, to put it mildly, which resulted in the Northwest rebellion. If Mr. Dewdney can fairly pose as a British Columbian, he is certainly not a British Columbian who brings any honor to the title. There is a great deal more contempt than admiration for Mr. Dewdney in this province, and when Premier Davie and his colleagues undertook to convince the Dominion Government to the contrary they displayed a remarkable amount of presumption. Perhaps their anxiety to secure Mr. Dewdney's appointment is another illustration of the ancient proverb, 'Birds of a feather," etc.

Some of the remarks of the News-Advertiser are duly reproduced by the Colonist as "impartial testimony" in favor of the Government's treatment of civic affairs, but that part of the Vancouver paper's article which condemned the plan proposed by the Premier is of course omitted. As for the certificate of character which the News-Advertiser felt impelled to give the Premier, we have already shown what poor foundation it had. So far from being "reluctant to carry out the course suggested" he was actually the suggester of that illegal course and must be given the full responsibility for it. The News-Advertiser, it must be assumed, was honestly mistaken about the matter, but the Colonist, knowing all the circumstances, could not have been honestly mistaken. It is, in fact, a dishonest advocate of Davieism.

Why Malays Run Amok.

Dr. Ellis, medical superintendent of the asylum at Singapore, discusses, in a report, the peculiar form of madness known as "amok." He says that fright, grief, brooding over real or imaginary wrongs, the sight of human blood (especially the person's own), and a peculiar condition of nervous depression, have all been noted as exciting causes. The question is how far a man should be held responsible for the crimes committed when running amok. As in persons suffering from epilepsy strong emotion will bring on a fit, due, according to the most recent theories, to transient nervous discharges emanating from explosions in the motor portions of the cerebral cortex, which cause the intense muscular spasms; so Dr. Ellis believes that in some Malays strong emotions bring on explosions in the sensory portions of their cerebral cortex, the result of which is an unconscious paroxysm of homicidal mania. During this paroxysm the unfortunate individual will rush through the most crowded street or village, stabbing right and left at man, woman or child, relation, friend or stranger. After such an outbreak, the duration of which may be from a few hours only to a few days, nothing is remembered that took place during it, the usual explanation on the part of the individual being that the head was giddy, and that everything appeared red or black, or like blood to the eyes. All men examined by Dr. Ellis after running amok at periods varying from a day to a few weeks after the incident, had a wild, furtive stare, showing much sclerotic, and when questioned as to the amok their respirations became hurried, and their pulse quickened, as they gave the above explanation, or answered, "I don't know; I can't remember." He could discover nothing else abnormal, except in one man who was undoubtedly very insane. Those who run amok from a sudden impulse, are, in his opinion, quite unable to refrain from obeying the impulse, and, moreover, are unconscious of what they do whilst obedient to their impulse, and therefore should not be held responsible for any action they may commit during their paroxysm of mania—a mania that would even come under the definition of insanity as held by lawyers. Those, on the other hand, who, from some real or imaginary wrong, or from any cause, first wilfully work themselves into an uncontrollable rage and then run amok, although he believes them to be quite unconscious as to their actions when running amok, should be held to a certain extent at least, responsible for their actions, for they must thoroughly understand what is likely to result from their first wilful action.

Young Soldiers in India.

An important report on the mortality of young soldiers sent out to join British regiments in India has been addressed to the Government of Bombay by the commander-in chief in that Presidency. The report owes its existence to certain observations in the Allahabad Pioneer, such as that "the half-grown boys who compose drafts from England die by hundreds after arrival in this country," and "the importation of youthful soldiers the majority of whom die or are invalided without having rendered any service to the country to which they are sent." Sir George Greaves has collected statistics and medical reports on the subject which show that, so far as the Bombay Presidency is concerned, these allegations are erroneous. He says, among other things, that a large proportion of the sickness which results in the invaliding is not altogether due to the Indian climate, but can be traced directly to venereal disease. The Government of Bombay have issued a resolution that the complaints of excessive mortality and invaliding amongst young soldiers do not apply to British regiments quartered in the Bombay Presidency in the years 1889, 1890 and 1891."

Wood Pulp For Ornaments.

The utilization of wood pulp has lately taken some new and interesting forms, especially in the line of ornamentation. The pulp is taken as it comes from the mill, and after being first fully dried, or not, as circumstances may require, it is immersed in an indurating pickle, so called, with coloring if desired. This pickle is composed of any compound or solution capable of indurating the mass, and after the material is taken out of the pickle and thoroughly dried, it is run through a mill and ground sufficiently firm to insure a mixture of the particles which have not absorbed the indurating substance with the particles which are fully hardened. The powdered pulp is then compressed, with the application of heat, in a mould or die, with the result of producing an article of manufacture composed of a homogeneous and cohesive mass of thoroughly indurated particles; and the objects produced in this manner may be polished or otherwise improved in their appearance according as may be desired.

THE LIEUT.-GOVERNORSHIP.

Mr. Earle, M.P., is Interviewed About Mr. Dewdney's Candidacy.

Thomas Earle, M.P., sat in his office taking an after-dinner smoke and rolling up papers.

"I read the dispatch stating that Premier Davie and Messrs. Vernon and Pooley had interviewed Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, when in Victoria, on behalf of the appointment of Mr. Dewdney to the Lieutenant-Governorship."

This was Mr. Earle's answer to the query of a TIMES man. When he was asked what he thought of the affair he threw himself back in his armchair and merely made use of the word "well," in a long-drawn breath. The interrogator asked his opinion in another question. The reply was, "I don't know. I suppose that Messrs. Davie, Vernon and Pooley have perfect liberty to advocate the candidacy of Mr. Dewdney. I don't know that I should take it in the light of the Government interfering in the appointment. Perhaps they saw the minister in a private capacity. Of course I believe Mr. Prior favors Mr. Mara. We do not approve of the appointment of Mr. Dewdney as he is not generally regarded as a British Columbian. It is true that he was member for Yale in the early days. But he has been absent from this province for a long time. I think that the opinion prevails that the appointment should fall to a British Columbian. I have not received any intimation, one way or the other, that any of the candidates have virtually been chosen."

A MATCH FOR MEDALS.

A general meeting of the Victoria Lacrosse club was held last evening, when the proposal to offer medals for a match between Victoria and Vancouver at this city, was fully discussed. It was decided to set aside $250 for medals, and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the match. The clubs will be given about two weeks in which to train.

THE CANOE.

IT WILL BE EXCITING.

Thomas Watson in his race with Alexander McLean on Saturday afternoon gets 125 yards start, not 25 as the morning paper states. As Watson is both powerful and experienced in a canoe, it puzzles most people who are interested in the contest, to understand how the Pitt River rancher is going to reduce the distance sufficiently to win. But the old farmer is as tough as leather and has the wind of a Barbary mule. Watson, with all his pluck, strength and skill will have to get that canoe along pretty fast to prevent the descendant of the clansmen closing up the gap. The race will be one of the most exciting of the McLean series of aquatic seances.

PEDESTRIANISM.

THE PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

During the summer Blain of Victoria, Smith of Vancouver, and Stewart of New Westminster met several times in 100 yard races. Blain won most of the races, and the Mainlanders claim that with a little training they would make the Victorian run a little faster than he has done this season. A race in which the three flyers could take part would be very interesting, and would decide who is to claim the championship of the province. An effort will be made to bring the trio together. Blain and his admirers in this city are confident that he can again beat the Mainlander.

The 100 yard foot race which took place between Pat Deasy and Alexander McLean to-day has given rise to another contest between the two men. The next test of speed will take place to-morrow at Beacon Hill, and the stakes, $50 a side were posted to-day. The race will be run at 4 o'clock. McLean will give Deasy 8 yards start.

M'LEAN GOES FOOTRACING.

Alex. McLean of New Westminster, and "Pat" Deasy of this city, ran a hundred yard race at Beacon Hill this morning. McLean was given 8 yards start and won by two yards.

Edward Thomas Garnet, hack driver and livery stable keeper, died this morning at his residence, 34 Humboldt street, after a short illness. The deceased was a native of Delaware, Ontario, aged 35. He was well known by Victorians, among whom he had resided for a number of years. A widow and three children have been left to mourn his loss. Due notice of the funeral will be given.

The Quadra Kept Busy.

The Quadra, Capt. Walbran, returned from a week's cruise in the Gulf of Georgia yesterday afternoon. During her absence from Victoria the machinery for the new fog alarm was landed at Active Pass lighthouse to be in readiness, when the contract is completed for the building in which it is to be placed. This Syren will supercede the bell now in use there during foggy weather and will be a great improvement on the latter. Gabiola Reef buoy was replaced by another and Gossip Reef buoy was also removed. The piles lately placed in the passage across Sturgeon bank were painted according to the colors in use in Canadian waters and this shallow pass is now satisfactorily marked. The Quadra leaves in the morning for East Point lighthouse and Nanaimo and will return to Victoria on Saturday next.

A Queen of the Drama.

In the coming of Margaret Mather to the Victoria Theatre next week, Wednesday and Thursday, the theatre patrons of Victoria will have a chance to see one of the most noted and able stars of the American stage. Miss Mather is no untried actress, nor does she come to Victoria with the question of her reputation unsettled. Ten years ago, as Juliet, she gained the admiration of the theatre-goers of Chicago, and since that time has broadened her triumphs until to-day she occupies a position in which she has no superior. What Mr. Booth is to "Hamlet"; what Mr. Irving is to "The Bells"; what Mr. Barrett was to "Francesca" and what the elder Salvini is to the "Gladiator," Miss Mather is to the dramatic roles in which women achieve triumph. She will appear here in three characters, in which she has become famous, and are said by critics to be the best of her repertoire. For the first night, Wednesday, Oct. 12th, she will offer her new curtain raiser "Nance Oldfield," the delightful sketch by Charles Reade, which was written as a story under the title of "art;" and which he afterward dramatised for Miss Ellen Terry of the London Lyceum, who made a prodigious hit in it, and from whom it was purchased by Miss Mather. She will give on the same night her new tragedy, "The Egyptian," a strong translation of Victor Hugo's story, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." This should prove a rare treat for the thinking portion of Victoria playgoers. For the last night of her stay she promises Bulwer-Lytton's romantic drama, "The Lady of Lyons." This piece has been seen here before, many times, but never with such a talented impersonator in the title role as Miss Mather. It is said that her interpretation of the role of Pauline, lovely and hapless, is beautifully artistic and brings out all the delicate inflections of feeling and thought, Lytton deals with so skilfully in his great work.

DID NOT ENTER OR CLEAR.

The Ship Bankburn From Australia Violated the Laws.

The claim of the thirteen sailors on the Bankburn, who were sent up for six weeks each and fined for mutiny, that they were railroaded to jail, and unjustly so, appears to be truthful, and the discovery of an irregularity in their case gives the hope that they will not only regain their liberty, but will be given their rights. In direct violation of the law, and directly contrary to what Collector Milne told him, Captain Davies of the Bankburn neither entered nor cleared his vessel here. The contention which that action will allow, on a question of jurisdiction is apparent. The captain called on Collector Milne and stated that he wanted to come ashore to receive telegraphic orders, and was told that under such circumstances he would not have to enter. He was told, however, that should he desire to land or receive any men, or take on stores or water, he would have to enter. He did land men, and by force too, and clearly violated the law and the collector's instructions.

Now as to the men themselves. They had a grievance, having been half-starved during the entire trip, and when they had brought the ship into Royal Roads, what they presumed was a British port, they made the demand that they be taken ashore. It was not a port, and the point is against them. The captain assented to their proposal for a ruse and when he got them ashore he hauled them before Magistrate E. Baynes Reed, and charged them with mutiny. The sailors, some of whom cannot speak English, asked for a lawyer and an interpreter. This they did not get and they claim they were railroaded into prison.

They say they did their duty up to the time the anchor was dropped in the roads. The pay due the men totals about $2000, and is quite a consideration. The ship is in a foreign port, but can be reached. This will be done when the conviction is quashed, as it is almost certain it will be. Mr. Walls intends pressing the case for the sailors.

Bristol and the Transatlantic Trade.

An important dock project which is of considerable interest to New Yorkers and Canada is now before the citizens of Bristol. For a long time past Bristol has been making a bid for some of the great Atlantic traffic, and among inducements held out to liners to come to port are that passengers can get to London from New York via Bristol five hours earlier than by any other route, that the cost for freight is cheaper by four shillings to six shillings per ton, that it is a central position for the distribution of goods. In order to provide accomodation for the Atlantic liners at Bristol, the docks committee has instructed their general manager and engineer to prepare a scheme to meet these requirements, and to day this scheme has been laid before the dock's board. It is a very important and comprehensive character, and if carried out will involve an expenditure of over a million of money. It includes the provision of two new docks, one wet and one dry, suitable for the accomodation of the largest type of vessel, to cost just nine hundred thousand pounds, and the erection also of a landing pier approachable at any state of the tide, to cost one hundred thousand. A railway scheme to cost sixty-five thousand, and to give timber merchants more accommodation, is also another detail of the scheme. A further inducement to the transatlantic liners to make Bristol a port of call is a scheme for building a long pier at Portshead, to be carried out by a private company. This pier will cost several thousand pounds.

CITY POLICE COURT.

The Usual Crop of Drunks, Vags and First Offenders.

Chas. Wilson was up under the vagrancy act. Officer Palmer swore that Wilson had no means of support. Wilson had been previously convicted three times for drunkenness. Wilson was hanging about Herald street, and was in the habit of frequenting the cabins of Indian women. Wilson claimed that he had been working on the Yosemite, but would not care for a remand to prove the statement. The court passed the sentence of a month with hard labor.

John Donovan pleaded not guilty to a charge of supplying beer to an Indian. Remanded till Thursday.

Charles Tolmie, Indian, was charged with being in possession of three pint bottles of whiskey. He was in the house of Catherine, a klootchman. The Indian pleaded guilty. He said that Donovan had given him the money to buy the whiskey. Donovan, who still remained in the box, wanted to know how that could be the case since the Indian could not talk English, and Chief Sheppard had to interpret for him and he, Donovan, did not speak Chinook. Remanded till Thursday. Chas. Schmidt, drunk, was discharged. First offense.

POTTS IS DISCHARGED.

Mr. Justice Drake Says the Girl's Evidence is Not to be Relied Upon.

A. S. Potts, who was up in the Supreme court yesterday charged with an indecent assault on Gracie Walker, was discharged by Mr. Justice Drake.

The evidence for the prosecution was similar to that brought out in the police court. The only witness for the defense was Mr. Jas. M. Macoun. He said that on the Friday in question two little girls, one carrying a baby, ran into his room and asked him to let them hide there. One of them said, "give us a nickel." He said in fun, "what will you give me if I give you a nickel? kisses?" One of the girls replied, "give us a nickel anyway." He then gave one of the girls a ten cent piece and the baby a nickel. They remained in the room for a short time amusing themselves until he told them to go. He might have told them to come again, but he did not mean it, as at that time he expected to leave town that night. He did not touch either of the girls. The next evening he and Potts were sitting in witness' room, when Gracie Walker came in. She was smoking a cigarette. She began the conversation by telling witness and Potts how she drank beer and smoked cigarettes. She then told them many other things, using very filthy language. She took off her clothes herself, neither he nor Potts touching or going near her. He made her dress herself again and sent her out of the room. He did not know that Potts was there to investigate alleged charges of immorality. He did not give Gracie Walker 25 cents on Saturday evening.

Mr. Belyea, counsel for defendants, was about to sum up his case when he was interrupted by Mr. Justice Drake, who said it was needless for him to say anything.

Mr. Smith, Deputy Attorney-General, summed up the case for the prosecution very briefly.

Mr. Justice Drake said charges of indecent assault were very easy to make, and sometimes very hard to disprove. The child Grace Walker was evidently very precocious, the discrepancies in her evidence being quite clear. She changed her mind under cross-examination and the mistakes were so numerous that very little reliance could be placed on her evidence. No doubt something improper had taken place. It is not the place of the press to investigate immoral practices, that work is for the police to do. The way the police enquiry in the present case had been conducted, however, was improper. The police should not hold an informal court to investigate cases of the kind. He then dismissed the case.

They Can't be Bothered.

The unsightly mess made by the contractors at the Davie building, corner of Yates and Government streets, is still there. The contractors are not going to bother themselves about it unless they are compelled by the police; and the police won't bother themselves about bothering the contractors unless the city council compels them; and the city council won't bother the police to bother the contractors unless the public compels it; and the public won't bother the council to bother the police to bother the contractors to bother their laborers to clear away the mess unless it happens to grow worse than it is now, and only a "mind Miltonic" could imagine greater chaos than reigns around that unfortunate corner at present. So it is a case of complete botheration all around and the mess is conqueror, as it holds the field.

Going South.

The steamer City of Puebla sailed this morning from the outer wharf for San Francisco with the following cabin passengers from Victoria: E. W. Merrell, Jas. McMillan, H. V. McKiel, Capt. W. D. Byers, M. Melan, Thadeus Harper, Mrs. Cook, Miss Cook, A. Cook, W. T. Pollock, G. W. Young and wife, Mrs. F. Macomber, and Mrs. E. Berrard.

Coquitlam Still in Custody.

Nothing has been done yet toward discharging the steamer Coquitlam. Mr. A. St. George Hamersley and Capt. Webster were to have come down from Vancouver yesterday evening, but they did not. They will probably be here this evening. The Coquitlam is still tied up near the Islander.

Seeking Warmer Climes.

The usual winter migration to southern points has commenced. The City of Puebla this morning took down a large number of steerage passengers, composed of the class who seek warmer climes during the winter.

Success in Whaling.

The unprecedented success of the little whale steamer Mary D. Hume at the mouth of the Mackenzie River will certainly lead to an imitation of her methods by competitors. Her owners will have a fortune handed over to them as the commercial equivalent of 38 whales. Such a catch has never, it is said, been known before in whaling, even in Scoresby's time when the right whale was abundant in Greenland waters. The fame of the catch may induce some of the hardy Dundee whalers to come round the Horn or get into the Arctic Sea by crossing the Pacific. It would be vain to expect that the whale will long survive the war waged against it off the Mackenzie River, any more than it has up Davis Strait. As a great sea mammal very valuable to man, it is doomed. The sperm whale, once so abundant in the Pacific and Indian oceans, has practically disappeared. Seeing that so great an abundance of life was observed by the crew of the Hume, it is a pity there was no naturalist on board to record facts of interest to science. Next voyage we may learn more.—S. F. Call.

Drowned While Hunting.

ELIZABETH, N.J., Oct. 5.—The many friends of Louis D. Tutt, one of the founders of the Elizabeth Athletic Club, were shocked yesterday on receipt of a telegram from the Adirondacks that he had been drowned on Monday, together with his guide, Eugene French, while they were on a hunting expedition. The dispatch stated that their boat had been accidentally upset in crossing Slim Pond, and Tutt, whose legs were encased in rubber boots, sank immediately and did not again rise to the surface. His body has not been recovered. Mr. Tutt was one of the champion bowlers of the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

THE GREAT PADEREWSKI.

Something About the Celebrated Pianist and His Friends.

Four years ago Mme. Modjeska and her husband, Count Bozenta Chlapowski, were visiting a certain popular summer resort, frequented principally by distinguished artists, a few miles from Strasburg, where they had the pleasure of meeting a countryman of theirs in the person of Paderwski the now celebrated pianist. Paderewski at that time was a professor of music in the Conservatory at Strasburg, and was very poor, so poor in fact that he was only too glad to be able to find a few pupils at the summer resort, who paid him just enough for his services to pay his expenses during his short vacation. Mme. Modjeska says of him: "I found a polished and genial companion; a man of wide culture; of witty, sometimes biting tongue; brilliant in table talk; a man wide awake to all matters of popular interest, who knew and understood the world."

Fancy a slim creature, ever so much younger in appearance than his recorded age, a head delicately poised on a throat as white as a virgin's, the head framed by a nimbus of hair which is indescribaolv colored—an orange shading into gold—a complexion the sulphur that lurks in the heart of the white rose, as Saltus would say, an elastic frame as lithe as an ocelot and with that subtly languid walk which all that belong to the Bernhardt tribe possess, and you catch a glimpse of Paderewski, the phenomenon.

Stay! I almost forgot his eyes, but they are so tantalizingly changeable in color and expression that you had better look for yourself. In the broad daylight the pupils contract, the whole eye is filled with light—another feline trait—but at night they expend into two glowing orbs that seem coal black, but are not, and gaze at you rather coyly from under lemon-tinted eyebrows. A bizarre-looking young man, you will say, and you are certainly right, but appearance is soon swallowed up in the playing of the man and in his enormous magnetism.

The singular part of Paderewski's career is that he sprung full-fledged as an artist upon the musical world of London two years ago, when he had hardly played a half-dozen bars before the knowing ones proclaimed him one of the elect. It seems that the greatest names in the history of pianism are Sclavic, two being Rubinstein and Carl Tausig, the latter the greatest pianist that ever lived, being the master of our peerless Joseffy. At all events Paderewski has the fiery Sclavic temperament, as tender, as poetic as a woman's and as passionate and as virile as a warrior's.

With Paderewski practice and study never cease. Before every concert he is accustomed to shut himself up and to practice all night, going carefully over his whole programme. No point of phrasing, technic or execution escapes him. When all is securely thought and worked out, the artist is ready for his hearers. The next day he goes to the piano master of his material, and free from concern about notes or mechanical means, plays with perfect abandon out of his inner feeling. This, his own statement, is borne out by his vividly expressive face when playing.

TAX REFORM IN PRUSSIA.

A Scheme Looking Towards Heavier Burdens on The Wealthy.

Berlin Correspondent New York Sun: Radical taxation reforms are to be presented by the Prussian government to the next landtag. These reforms will constitute the burning question in Prussian politics next winter, and the discussion of them in the landtag is expected to culminate in another cabinet crisis. Herr Herrfurth fell on account of his opposition to the proposals of Herr Miquel, Prussian minister of finance, and the offices of other men are believed to be trembling in the balance for the same reason.

"My new plan of taxation," Herr Miquel says, "proposes mainly to do for Prussia what, for instance, England has been striving for ever since Queen Elizabeth and what she now partly possesses—that is, a communalization of the land and ground tax. The communities are to have free option to tax land, exactly as it may suit local needs and finances, upon lines within the limits broadly defined by act of parliament. The communes henceforth will defray the expenses of canalization of rivers, of building highways and securing water supplies out of the land tax, which the state delivers to them in exchange for the proposed new law on capital, which will supplement the present income tax.

"Under the existing system large tracts of land, increasing yearly in value, are undertaxed because kept waiting for the builder or farmer. The owner pays merely a small ground rent, although the land represents a large capital temporarily bearing no interest. The law does not reach the accumulated interest, and the owner realizes when he sells a much larger price than the land cost him. Thus the wealthy class escape taxation on the greater part of their revenue. To summarize, my aims are threefold: First, that indirect taxation feeds the coffers of the empire; second, that personal taxation feeds the coffers of the states; third, that taxation on unremovable property feeds the coffers of the communes. This is undoubtedly the ideal system for Germany.

"I am, of course, unable to say whether parliament will approve of my plan. The conflict as regards it is already widespread, and powerful vested interests are organized against it. In the absence of a compact majority the factional policy in certain party sections will increase the difficulty of obtaining a majority for the ideas incorporated in it. Nevertheless, a majority composed of votes from various parties is possible, and such a party might crystallize into a new party."

This last suggestion is an echo of Miquel's famous words that the old parties had outlived their usefulness and must reorganize on lines dictated by the financial and industrial issues of the day. These words excited the enthusiastic approval of the emperor, and he, as well as Herr Miquel, is eager that they should be realized when the tax reform bill shall be brought to a vote.

The rumors of bitter dissensions in the cabinet are true. Herr Miquel, contrary to the general belief, is the storm centre. That he remains in the cabinet is due solely to the hope of his colleagues and the emperor that he will be able to push his tax reform proposals through the landtag.

HOW TO TREAT SUNSTROKE.

How to Avoid and to Relieve Heat Exhaustion.

Dr. John A. Boger, of the Samaritan hospital, Philadelphia, lays down the following rules for the treatment of heat exhaustion:

The treatment should be first to remove the sufferer to a cool, shady spot, placing him flat on his back, with head low. Loosen all clothes around the neck, but do not remove the clothing from the body, because in this condition the bodily warmth must be retained. Bathe the face with rags wrung out in ordinary cold water, and this treatment will be all that is necessary in nine-tenths of all cases of heat exhaustion, and the patient will be sufficiently recovered to be removed to some quiet place for rest. Should the patient be slow in coming around and show signs of depression, becoming cooler, shivering, blue in the face, with an increasing numbness, then stimulation and the external application of heat are called for.

The best thing to give is hot water to sip, and it may be given in any quantities. Avoid alcohol in any shape, as it is positively detrimental.

The symptoms are headache, dizziness and general muscular weakness; the head feeling as though being pressed forcibly down on the body. When these signs appear all exertion should cease instantly and a cool place sought, where a lying down position is to be assumed. When the stroke comes on the skin of the body is red, dry, hot and burning, and the face is also flushed and red, the patient becomes unconscious, with a blowing, hurried breathing due to the nervous excitement, and in the majority of cases with no perspiration.

To prevent sunstroke alcoholic liquors should be strenuously avoided and plenty of water taken while at work, as it causes profuse perspiration, there being little danger of sunstroke so long as perspiration is plentiful.

How to Make a Chemical Barometer.

Take a long narrow bottle and put into it 2½ drams of camphor and eleven drams of spirits of wine; when the camphor is dissolved add the following mixture: Water, nine drams; saltpeter, thirty-eight grains, and muriate of ammonia thirty-eight grains. Dissolve these salts in water and mix with the camphorated spirits. Cork the bottle and wax the top. Then make a small hole in the cork with a redhot needle. Hang the bottle in a stationary position and changes in the weather will be prognosticated by the appearance of the mixture. In clear weather the mixture settles to the bottom. When a rainstorm is imminent the material clouds the whole bottle.

How to Freshen Tumbled Silk Frocks.

Treat them to an application consisting of a tablespoonful of cold water, a tablespoonful of vinegar and a few drops of ammonia put on with a sponge.

How to Wash Windows.

Choose a dull day, or at least a time when the sun is not shining on the window, for then it causes it to be streaked, no matter how much it is rubbed. Take a painter's brush and dust the windows inside and out, washing all the woodwork inside before touching the glass. The latter must be washed simply in warm water and diluted ammonia—do not use soap. Take a small cloth with a pointed stick to get the dust out of the corners; wipe dry with a soft piece of cotton cloth—do not use linen, as it makes the glass linty and dry. Polish with tissue paper or old newspaper.

How to Treat a Watch.

Buy American watches with American movements. Wind your watch regularly, regulate it, study its moods in both hot and cold weather, keep the inner case closed, get it demagnetized and don't call a watchmaker a robber when he tells you that the mainspring of your watch needs renewal.

If you don't know how, hire some one that does or else sell the cow.

How to Get Fitted to a Shoe.

The first pair of shoes you try on after you take off the old shoes you have been wearing is likely to feel too small, because the foot is slightly swollen. After trying on a number of pairs the foot cools down and loses its sensibility, and herein arises the danger of getting shoes that afterward will be too small. You should stop at the second pair. If they seem to fit take them and you won't have to change them. Remember, your foot is in its normal condition at the second pair. Before and after it isn't reliable.

How to Toughen Plaster Casts.

It is said that plaster casts may be rendered so tough that they can bear a nail driven through them without cracking if immersed in a hot solution of glue long enough to become well saturated.

Eating Rats.

We have tasted the rats that run riot in isolated wheat ricks, and we conscientiously aver that they are both sweet and succulent. Their flesh is as white as that of sweet bread, and has unquestionably more flavour. We understand that field mice are still more delicate, and considering the simple and wholesome habits of their virtuous lives, we can believe it. The "Englishman in Paris" speaks of a salmi served soon after the beginning of the siege of the Commune, and the very memory of it seems to have made his mouth water. Yet the town mice scarcely gave the experiment a fair trial, for they had been snared on the bastions between the outer boulevards and the fortifications. —The Saturday Review.

HUMAN HEAD ON A STAKE.

Horrible Find of Two Prospectors on South Fork of the Skykomish.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer]

A human head, cut off and left hanging in the woods, is the story of a find made by two Seattleites on Saturday morning last. The gentlemen in question, L. W. and C.H. Gray, live at 606 East street, in the Walla Walla addition. They are prospectors and were in search of the mineral when they found what they were not searching for, as detailed above. The location of the find was accurately described by them to the coroner as being the extreme northeast corner of King county. It is on the south fork of the Skykomish river, about fifteen miles above its junction with the north fork at Granite and about one and a half miles below where Miller River empties into the south fork. The spot is near the south bank of the stream, below where the Great Northern bridge crosses the south fork, and is directly opposite Palmer's ranch and cabin, which is on the north bank of the river. According to the railroad surveys the location is in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 20, township 26 north, range 11 east. The boundary line between Snohomish and King is a little less than a mile to the north, being the north line of township 26.

The Messrs. Gray say that they came across the thing entirely unexpectedly. At a little distance it bore no resemblance whatever to any part of a human being. It was strung on a stick of wood, which had been run through underneath the jaw and out through the mouth. The stick was then suspended horizontally about four feet from the ground in the notches of two vine maples standing close together. And there the head hung, staring up into the sky out of empty eyes, a horrible sight. No trace could be found of a body. The head had been hanging for some weeks evidently, as it was so badly decomposed that the probable nationality of the dead man could not be told. It was, however, the head of a white man, probably 50 years of age. At a little distance it suggested a hornets' nest rather than anything that had once lived. The exact spot was a few rods back from the river bank. On a log near by lay a lot of nails, and close at hand were the beginnings of the framework, the sills, of a cedar shack cabin. The Grays are of the opinion that some terrible crime has been committed. Coroner Horton was notified yesterday, and will probably go to the scene to make an investigation.

Death in Bank Bills.

In a city in which the mortuary statistics show a large proportion of infectious diseases, every factor that enters into the dissemination of these diseases is of interest, and from the following, and from what has before now been said, this subject should not be put aside with a smile or a sneer. The New York Medical Journal says:—"Dr. Acosta and Dr. Rossi have reported the results of their bacteriological analysis of bank notes. It was found that circulation increased the weight of bank notes, in consequence of their acquiring foreign matter. Examination showed in the notes in use for some time a considerable number of microbes, and in two notes they circulated there were 19,147 microbes. In the notes that were analyzed there existed a septic micro-organism that rapidly killed animals inoculated with it. Besides this, eight pathogenic species were encountered, including those of diphtheria and tuberculosis. We have been told that in olden times, during the prevalence of epidemic diseases, creditors and vendors refused to receive money, all coin being dropped by the debtor or purchaser into a bucket of water. But they merely surmised that the "mechanism of exchange" might become the medium for infection. Now that the possibility has been demonstrated, and as the inconveniences of specie payment have made paper money a general favorite, banks should either turn into the treasury all soiled currency or be provided with steam pressure disinfecting chambers into which such money could be placed.

Bombay Street Cars.

Street cars in Bombay are mostly of American manufacture, and the promoters of the street car lines are Americans. When it was proposed, not many years ago, to start such lines, Europeans prophesied their failure upon the ground that such common public conveyances could not be profitable in a caste ruled community. It was believed that the high caste man, who will not eat or drink from the vessel used by a low caste man, would refuse to ride in public conveyance beside his humble brother. In spite of these doleful prophecies the railways were built and equipped, and lo! the high caste man complacently pays his fare and rides untroubled by the side of any sort of man. The cheapness and convenience of the street cars were too much for even the hard and fast rules of caste.
